

GalcoNews

June 24, 2012

GalcoNews

5th Edition, June 2012

Smart Irrigation Scheduling with the New GSI

We're excited to introduce you to the newest member of our extensive product family – the Galcon Smart Irrigation Controller – GSI. GSI is an easy-to-use, web-based irrigation controller that enables you to remotely schedule your landscape irrigation from any web connected computer and smartphone! GSI is ideal for any type of landscape as it simplifies irrigation from the controller or from any location with web access. The GSI is available in both AC and DC models providing flexibility when power is not available. GSI can be scaled to fit a variety of landscape types and station quantities.

Based on advanced irrigation technology, GSI can identify system leaks and malfunctions, which enables significant reduction in preventable water loss and costs. GSI was designed with simplicity in mind. Using GSI enables you to control your landscape irrigation from any location all around the world without the need for software download or configuration. Whether at home or on holiday, just access the web-based application from any web connected computer and you will have instant control of your entire irrigation schedule!

Learn more about GSI - click here. To watch the movie click on the picture.

Hello! Shalom! Hola!

Galcon's website is going global! In addition to our international English website, we now boast sites in both Spanish and Hebrew. Save these links to your website favorites to read about us in any one of these languages:

- English Site: : <http://galconc.com/>
- Spanish Site: <http://galconc.com/es/>
- Hebrew Site: <http://galconc.com/he/>

Certifying Galcon Technicians Left Right and Center

Our Master Technicians Seminars are becoming more and more popular as we certify Galcon Technicians all around the world. Peru enjoyed 3 seminars during April where participants got in – depth training on Galcon’s products and enjoyed hands-on experience operating our advanced irrigation systems. In May, right after Agritech 2012, we hosted a seminar at Galcon’s headquarters. Our first US seminar was just completed on June 7. If you are interested in participating in one of our upcoming seminars just contact your Regional Manager for registration details:

<http://galconc.com/contact-us/>

It has Been an Eventful 2012!

The first half of 2012 was filled with various events and exhibitions. We’ve just returned from Agritech 2012 in Tel Aviv full of experiences and insights. Thanks to all our visitors – it was great to see you!